January 2010

Dear TTUHSC Alumni,

Happy New Year! I hope you all had a great and safe New Year Celebration. In the coming year you can expect to hear a lot from the TTUHSC Alumni Association as well as the TTUHSC Office of Alumni Relations. From all-encompassing Alumni Receptions to school specific events I look forward to everything that 2010 has in store for us. If you are interested in getting involved with events in your area please don't hesitate to contact me at any time.

Sincerely,

Nathan Rice

Hance made it clear that the El Paso medical campus will be a free-standing entity, joining Texas Tech University, the Texas Tech Health Sciences Center and Angelo State University. This means the El Paso school will have its own president and its budget will be submitted directly to Hance and considered independently of other Tech institutions. Full article..

Physicians are trained to be experts in their areas of disease, which includes mastering their instruments to help cure the sick. Drs. Richia Rosen, Lowry Schaub, Jeff Paxton, Tom Windisch and Brad Snodgrass have mastered their instruments to be in harmony with one another-working together to help those who need them the most.
